FIFTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., MONDAY, JULY 13, 1896.

ONE CENT.

IF you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop a note to this effect:

Mr. Frank Allen of Knoxville, Tenn., is a guest of Mr. Duke A. Rudy.

Miss Oral Lou Lister of Flemingsburg is the guest of Mr. H. G. Wells and family.

Colonel Thad F. Moore came up from Dover yesterday to see the sights of a live city.

Mrs. Anderson Plumb and daughter Miss Mary are sojourning at Chattanooga, N. Y.

Misses Bessie Cline and Nannie Reed are visiting Mrs. A. P. Gooding, Jr., of Cranshiana.

Rev. W. O. Cochran leaves this afternoon for Chattanooga, N. Y., where he will spend his vacation.

Miss Corinne Clineknecht, accompanied by Miss Mabel Prevost, came in Friday night from Lexington.

Colonel John C. Adamson returned Saturday from Chicago, where he had attended the Democratic Convention.

Mr. W. H. Wadsworth has returned from a visit to his family, who are spending several weeks in the mountains near Glen Springs.

Mr. Samuel Sweet of Plunkett will leave in a few days for Southern Missouri, where he will move his family some time in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Andrews of Flemingsburg and Miss Emily and Bessie Sudduth of Louisville are the guests of Mrs. George T. Wood.

Mr. James Fitzgerald is in Carlisle today, and leaves here tomorrow for Winchester to spend several days with his wife, who is visiting relatives there.

Mrs. Henry Lane and son George, accompanied by sister, Miss Emma Kreutz, spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. John Burke, in Fleming county.

Miss Emma Williams has returned to her home in Fleming after an extended visit to relatives here. She was accompanied by her niece, Miss Gertrude and Alva Nuse.

Elsewhere will be found the announcement of the K. M. I. Professor C. W. Fowler, Superintendent, is no stranger to many of our people, while his school is known far beyond the borders of the state. Messrs. Thomas A. Keith, George C. Keith, Robert B. Owens, William F. Hall and other prominent citizens are graduates of the K. M. I., and they will take great pleasure in indulging Professor Fowler and his school.

Mr. James F. Breen died at Mt. Sterling a few days ago, aged 62. He was a brother of Mr. Patrick Breen of this city and an uncle of Letter Carrier Thomas Breen. Thirty years ago he was connected with the Druggists of Mr. George T. Wood in this city. For more than twenty-five years he had successfully conducted the drug business in Mt. Sterling on his own account.

At Gap Run, Tenn., the Oddfellows use a cave for a lodge room. The cave is on the farm of Dr. Hyder, Secretary of the lodge, and on entering you pass down nine steps to the first floor, where is located an anteroom, 19 feet square. From the anteroom you descend 19 more steps and find yourself in a complete lodge room 50 feet long, 30 feet wide and 30 feet from floor to ceiling, a natural arch in the center. The stairs and seats are bed rock and the temperature in the lodge room is so uniform the year round, that no heat or ventilation is required.

The Madisonville Hustler says: "The man or the woman who is soured on the world ought to make arrangements to die just as soon as possible. Soured people, like soured meat, become offensive and need putting under the ground so as not to taint the atmosphere. One soured individual in a church, or at a social gathering will do more harm and will cause more unhappiness than can be dispelled by the appearance of twenty faces that beam with merriment. There ought to be an asylum erected for these people and all of them ought to be placed there, in the doors barred and they be shut out from the world. The very presence of some of these people is enough to cause one to feel like committing suicide."

A special dispatch says the Free Soil Democrats of Maysville are preparing to meet this evening at the Court-house. Well, if they want the "hot stuff" straight from the still, let them take the Louisville.

PARDONED PURNELL.

That's What Governor Bradley Did on Saturday.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE CASE.

It will be remembered that early in this year Chief of Police Ort, by and with the consent of Mayor Cox, appointed Frank Purnell as a Special Policeman.

This he had the power and the right to do under the law.

For some reason—best known only to the members themselves—the Board of Council has persistently refused to pay Mr. Purnell, Mr. Pearce, we believe, being the only one in favor of it.

This obliged him to bring suit in the Quarterly Court for his salary.

Judge Hutchins decided adversely to Mr. Purnell, and an appeal was taken to the Circuit Court, where Judge Harbeson very promptly and very properly declared Mr. Purnell's appointment legal, and gave judgment against the city for the amount sued for. And yet—while pretending great economy with the people's money—the Board of Council at its last meeting, by a yeas and nay vote of 7 to 4, resolved to squander several hundred dollars by taking this simple case to the Court of Appeals.

This statement is necessary to an understanding of what follows.

Some weeks ago Mr. Purnell was placed in charge of six prisoners.

Mr. John L. Whitaker was attorney for the offenders.

He desired a "private" conference with his clients, and Judge Wadsworth permitted them to go with him to his office, with the understanding that officer Purnell should accompany them.

The attorney did not object to this arrangement, and all left the Courtroom together.

Arrived at the office, Mr. Whitaker objected to Mr. Purnell's presence, saying he wanted a "private" audience with the prisoners.

Mr. Purnell then told him that he could take them, either one at a time or collectively, into the back room and talk to them, and he would remain in the front room.

This did not suit the attorney, who told Purnell he didn't want him in his office at all, and directed him to take a seat out on the sidewalk.

As Mr. Purnell was responsible for the prisoners, who had been giving the officers the "hlep" for several days, he refused the kind offer of Mr. Whitaker.

Thereupon Mr. Whitaker grew irate, and heated the procession for the Court-house until his tale of woe before Judge Wadsworth.

He made his statement to the Court without interruption.

While officer Purnell was stating his side of the case, Mr. Whitaker broke in repeatedly, still denying what the officer said.

Finally, exasperated beyond control, Purnell warned Whitaker not to contradict him again, and for this he was fined $3 and costs for contempt of Court.

To this Whitaker replied that he wouldn't say that outside the Courtroom, and just then gassing his eyes on the officer's gun, exclaimed,

"There, he's got a pistol on now!"

Purnell promptly took the gun from his holster and laid it on the Clerk's desk.

Thereupon Mr. Whitaker renewed his offensive remarks and Purnell hit him once or twice with his fist.

Quick as a flash the Court officers interfered, the men were separated, and Judge Wadsworth issued a warrant for Mr. Purnell, which was served upon him by Chief Ort.

The warrant was for a breach of the peace, for which he was fined $5 and costs.

All this occurred within ten minutes following the difficulty.

Mr. Whitaker was present in Court during these proceedings, and if he murmured so one heard him.

Subsequently Mr. Whitaker procured a warrant for officer Purnell, charging him with assault and battery.

The case was heard before Special Judge Frank P. O'Donnell, Police Judge

Wadsworth declining to sit, he being a brother-in-law of Mr. Whitaker.

City Attorney John L. Chamberlain, also a relative of one of the parties, declined to prosecute, and Mr. Whitaker was represented by Commonwealth's Attorney James H. Salie, assisted by Thomas M. Wood, who acted for Chamberlain.

Judge Thomas H. Plister appeared for Mr. Purnell.

Mr. Purnell's lawyer plead former conviction.

But the forensic efforts of the Commonwealth's Attorney was the excellent treatment the Indiana received while here. Not a single thing occurred to make their visit unpleasant, and every one of them were willing to make it more extended.

So well pleased were they that several expressed a desire of staying and signing with the Kurnals.

That's the way our people treat all that come to our city, however, and the Indiana may rest assured that should they make us another visit the same good treatment will be accorded Mansmerriffett and his tribe of braves.

They left yesterday morning for Cincinnati, where they spent the day, and left that city last night for their hunting grounds.

They will play the Paris team in Knoxville Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

EARLDONS.

Newton and his flowers were in Cincinnati yesterday to see the Brooklyn and Cincinnati play.

The boys enjoyed an outing at Escalpa Springs yesterday. It is hoped the air gave them a nice bracing up.

Lever is in fine form to go against that fodder team at Paris. There isn't a hit in a hat for them against Sammy.

Tanner arrived last night and will go to work right away with the team. He's a hitter from Smashtown and a regular bora feller.

There were runs made. It is true; but the game as played was positively the best one.

Newton, thied from the Hoosier State, was in the points for Maysville, and so great was his work that he was not only tendered an ovation by the people present, but he was presented with one of the handsomest bouquets that could be purchased. He desires through the columns of THE LEADER to extend his thanks to the donors. He would have delivered a speech, but his modesty prevented him.

Lautie, the little shortstop, more than redeemed himself, and he

INSANITY RACKET.

That Will Be the Defense in the Laughlin Case.

Fred Bass, Walter S. Skinner, Garrett Breckinridge and George Thatcher, prisoners in the Mason County Jail, have been summoned to testify in the Laughlin murder trial at Brookville.

An effort will be made to prove Laughlin insane.

Some time in May Laughlin came near choking a prisoner in Jail to death.

When asked about it Saturday he said that he knew nothing of it, only that the Jailer had told him, and that he was not always in his right mind.

When asked if he was crazy when he committed the murder of his wife and niece, he answered that he must have been or he would not have done it.

Everything has quieted down at Brookville, and it is now thought that there will be no trouble, and that the law will be allowed to take its course.

FOR HONEST MONEY.

Dr. J. T. Strode, Late of This City, Talks at Lexington.

The Louisville Times interviewed Dr. T. Strode, formerly of this city but now of Lexington.

And this is the result:

"The best sign that the Chicago Convention is controlled by the Populists is that it has named a Populist at the head of the ticket," said Dr. Strode, a leading Lexington physician.

"It may be true that Bryan was elected to Congress by the Democrats, but it is also true that he joined the Populists in Nebraska two years ago and tried to carry with him the Democrats of the state, but they refused and held a separate convention, causing the failure of the Democrats to elect a Governor. I have been a Democrat all my life. This is a question of honor and dishonor, and I and my two sons will certainly vote for the ticket running on a Sound Money platform."

The assets of Drabner & Rafuse, the Cincinnati wholesale milliners who recently assigned, have been returned at $4,045.

Messrs. J. Barbour Russell, R. B. Owen, George F. Brown and Tom Anderson left this morning by the decorated wagon route for a continental tour of Nicholas and Bourbon counties.

OVER "TECHED HIM."
Kentuckian's Opinion of John C. Carlisle's Condition.

Colonel A. H. Lewis contributes the following to The New York Journal:
"Keep away from Gould," said Daniel Drew was wont to advise his friends; "keep away from Gould. His tech is deep." Today a prominent Kentuckian quoted the old financier in speaking of Cleveland.

"I was up to see Carlisle," said the Kentuckian, "and he looked bad—looked like he'd lost his last friend. I couldn't help musing. Four years ago he was the Bluegrass idol. Joe Blackburn was it, Kentucky's estimation, fit to unloose his shoe. But Cleveland got him. To day he's politically dead and Black-burn is boss, instead. It all reminded me of what old Drew said of Jay Gould, as something which could, in politics, be said of Cleveland: 'Keep away from him; his tech is death.' Carlisle has, from a giant, shriveled to a political nothing in the President's clutch. Nor is Carlisle's the only headstone in Democracy that can be traced to Cleveland. There's Herbert, Holt Smith and a herd of others. Cleveland touched them and they're too dead to skin."

An Irishman Who Had No Idea of Throwing the Race.

Memphis Commercial-Appal.
PA son of Erin, who is a Captain in the Police Department, tells this story of a race. The American was mowed on a fine Kentucky thoroughbred. The Irishman was a sturdy mule. They were riding on the Western plains, wile a number of screaming Indians appeared over a nearby hill and started toward them at a steady run. It immediately became a race for scraps. The American on his racer ran quite away from his companion on the mule, but returned and urged Pat to put on more speed. "They're gaining on us, Pat," he shouted, "bury up, man, hurry up or we are dead penniless, sure!" Pat put spurs and whip to his animal, but in spite of all his efforts the Indians drew closer and closer. The American ran all around him, shouting and urging and encouraging, but the wild crew behind continued to draw nearer. They were now not six lengths behind and gaining at every jump. Pat's arms and heels were beating the wind and the mule mercilessly. The American was pleading and threatening: "Hang it all, man," he shouted, "ride, ride for your life, you idiot!" This wattle much for Pat. "A-b-l-wid ye," he answered, "d'ye tink o'm t'rowin' de race?"

MANY USES FOR GLASS.
Balls, Stoppers, Dresses and Other Things Made From It.

Historical Times.

There was once a time when glass was used only for window panes and mirrors, but since then it has developed into many different fields. By means of a valuable toughening process, recently discovered, glass may now be molded into lengths and used as railway sleepers. Glass rails are also produced by the same toughening process. It is therefore possible to have a complete glass railway.

The glass rails are turned out in sizes and shapes similar to those of the ordinary steel rails. They are far tougher and resist the action of the elements more successfully than steel. There is reason to believe before long that we shall be able to ride in glass cars on glass rails laid on glass sleepers.

The manufacture of a glass dress in Toledo is probably one of the most curious uses to which glass has been put. This garment is described as being extraordinarily beautiful. Its foundation is a silk warp, woven with the strands of glass. In each strand there are 260 small invisible threads.

One of the latest uses of glass is in sliding teeth. This method is said to be particularly effective with the front teeth, where it is less conspicuous than gold, being indistinguishable from the tooth surface.

The C. and O. contemplates making extensive terminal improvements at Richmond, including the building of viaducts and a new depot.

The Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners are particularly pleased over their contract for the entire output of the chair factory of the Grandchildren. They have made a calculation and say it will give the state between $80,000 and $40,000 above the actual expenses of the prison.

WRITTEN ON A CARD.
Singleton Had a Commission From Lincoln Never Executed.

New York Sun.
A daughter of the late General James W. Singleton has a card which is historically of great interest. It is a pass written by President Lincoln late on April 13th, 1865, and is more than probably the last pass he ever wrote. It reads: "Allow General Singleton to pass to Richmond and return. A. LINCOLN. 'April 13th, 1865.'"

The War was practically ended. Lee, with his "scared and battered legions," awaited the end that was swiftly approaching. The surrender was a question of time. Weary of bloodshed, "with malice toward none, with charity for all," Mr. Lincoln, in the interests of peace, had summoned to his aid General James W. Singleton of Quincy, Ill., a Virginian by birth, and personally known to prominent men of the Confederacy, and also intimately associated with the President in his Western home.

Already he had made several trips to Richmond—unofficially of course—and there was a chance that the negotiations would bear good fruit and tend to a speedy and peaceful adjustment of many questions by making both sides better acquainted with each other.

At General Singleton's request, Mr. Lincoln had given him a letter, stating in substance that if Virginia or any of the Southern States would recognize the authority of the United States, and elect Senators and members of Congress, such Senators and members of Congress would be entitled to take their seats.

"Mr. President," said General Singleton, referring to this letter, "when I go South I shall be asked how your promise in this letter can consistently stand alongside of your emancipation proclamation. What shall I tell them?"

"Singleton," said Mr. Lincoln, "I have explained, and will now say again, that I have issued that proclamation, and if I have any legal effect I have no power to recall it. If I have not any legal effect, it is of no consequence. I would not take it back if I could, and I could not if I would."

He continued: "My duty is simply to enforce the laws. I want to see these states and all these people come back and submit to the Constitution, and then my duty is done. I am the executive part of the Government, and when I have enforced the laws the other departments will relieve me of all responsibility."

On April 14th he instructed General Singleton to "assure the people of Virginia that he would favor the return of the state into the Union with her Government intact, and the same on the part of the seceded states."

"I cannot do everything at once," he said, "for I am impeded by the fact that everything is under martial law at the present time. I wish you to go again, immediately, to Richmond and reassure the people."

Mr. Uhler, Secretary of the Interior, was present at this interview, and was to accompany General Singleton to Richmond and went out together.

Later in the evening, going to join Governor Yates of Illinois and other friends, with whom they were making a party supper, they were met on the threshold with flying rumors of the assassination of Mr. Lincoln at Ford's Theater.

Thus were Mr. Lincoln's last words of peace and kindness.

Recognizing the value of that memento of the time, General Singleton ordered a case of gold, in one compartment of which, under glass, is the card with its significant date.

Nowadays when men are trying to do everything it is not strange that many things are overdone. It is not strange that there are all kinds of physical and mental disturbances. If the woman who is a doctor, or lawyer, or a journalist, or in business would not try to be a society woman too it might be different; but the woman who knows when she has done a day's work has yet to be born. Usually a woman's way is to keep doing until she drops. Working in this way has manifested itself in the most common trouble resulting from over-exertion, either mentally or physically, the consumption of the bowels, with all its attendant horrors.

Baxon's Soap guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Taylor Bros. at Washington are selling 90 pounds of granulated sugar for $1.15 and all their dry goods and shoes at cost to close out. They have a nice stock.

Last summer one of our Grandchildren was sick with a severe bowel trouble. Our Doctor's remedies had failed, then we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief. We regard it as the best medicine ever put on the market for bowel complaints.—Mrs. E. G. Gregory, Fredericktown, Mo. This certainly is the best medicine ever put on the market for dysentery, summer complaint, colic and cholera. Infants, in children, it never fails to give prompt relief when used in reasonable time and the plain printed directions are followed. Many mothers have expressed their sincere gratitude for the cure it has effected. For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.
